EMPLOYES GET DAMAGES.

Denver. March 24.-Judge Mullins in the District Court today decided that the agreements which railroad companies and the Pullman Company companies and the Pullman Company exact of their employes, discharging the companies from liability for damages in case of injuries resulting from accident, are illegal and void. The decision was given in the case of Clarence L. Adams, a Pullman conductor, who was injured in a collision and sued the Rock Island and Denver and Rio Grande railroads for $15,000 damages. The corporations pleaded the contract made by Adams with the Pullman Company as a bar to the suit, and the Court overruled the plea.
